The course, as usual, will open with the Grid. Because Election Day falls within the opening week, each student was reminded to make his own arrangements to vote—if he wishes to vote—by absentee ballot.

b. Operational Indoctrination Course

The first running of the course especially tailored for TSD officers ended Monday, 16 October. (The Monday close-out was due to the Columbus Day holiday.) This course was designed to familiarize TSD technicians with field operational problems and techniques, with a goal to enhance both their effectiveness in support of operations and their own security and that of the field stations they support. Most of the fifteen students in the class had scientific and engineering backgrounds. A TSD operations officer sat in on the two-week instruction to clarify internal TSD problems as they related to subjects discussed among the instructors and students.

c. FSI's International Narcotics Control Course

In a follow-up meeting on the first presentation of the course, Mr. Ray Chambers, Coordinator, talked with Messrs. [redacted] and [redacted] the Operations School about the Agency's two-day contribution to the course. Mr. [redacted] is working with

The cost of the training to the Division is $2500.... On Friday, 16 October, a fire drill at the Chamber of Commerce building was called at 2:00 p.m. The building was evacuated in 8 1/2 minutes; a record, according to fire officials who agreed that if the evacuation had been completed within ten minutes, it would have been rated an excellent performance....

The semi-annual Project HELPFUL, DIA's orientation for CIA, NSA, and State, is scheduled for 16 November at the Defense Intelligence School. Our quota is 33; we have asked Training Officers for their candidates.... The JCS/DIA Orientation is scheduled to be given on 5 and 6 December in 1-A-07 of the Headquarters building. We expect approximately 60 officers for the program.

3. Briefings

A Brookings-type briefing and panel, chaired by Mr. Colby, Executive Director-Comptroller, was held on 6 October at Headquarters (Room 1-A-07) for 46 members of the President's Executive Interchange Program. Sixty-two visitors were expected but for various reasons, 16 members of the group were unable to attend. The other panelists were Messrs. Charles Briggs, and Sayre Stevens.

The question-and answer period following Mr. Colby's briefing was unusually spirited and stimulating and went well beyond the two hours scheduled for the afternoon's program. The interest of the group in the Agency's role obviously was great and the questions were particularly sharp and penetrating.
